

Building Capacities for Mitigating HEC in Buxa-Jaldapara Landscape, Northern West Bengal—India

Eliminating human-elephant conflict has been an important component of the Asian Nature Conservation Foundation's (ANCF) project. This pilot project will facilitate co-existence between humans and elephants by building capacities of communities and test strategies for development of alternative sources of income and alternate crops in a selected cluster of villages and tea gardens in Bengal.