

Children and Elephants of Boromo Region—Burkina Faso

A French conservation organization Des Elephants et Des Hommes coordinated the Conservation and Environmental Education Program in the Boromo Region of Burkina Faso. Large populations of elephants live in this area although few children have actually seen one. The program will fund groups of pupils between 8 and 12 years old to experience an elephant outreach program, learning about elephants, wildlife conservation, forest protection and career opportunities associated with ecotourism.